INTRODUCTION.

The Wilhelm Reich Bibliography Project has been initiated to preserve (in machine-readable form) the original and unaltered published writings of Wilhelm Reich, M.D. This nonprofit received funding and logistical support from The Washington Street Research Center (San Francisco) and The Academy of Parapsychology and Medicine (Los Altos, California), funding our user accounts at the Stanford University Computer Center (Pine Hall) and the University of California, San Francisco (Toland Hall facility).

One objective of the Wilhelm Reich Bibliography Project (suggested by consultant Douglas Ferguson, M.S., of Stanford University Libraries) has been to list Dr. Reich's writings in chronological order so as to provide insight into the process of his intellectual development.

"PUBLISHED WORKS – TOTALS BY YEAR" (page 9 below) is a chart showing Wilhelm Reich's literary output during the years 1919-1957 (930 monographs). Additional columns list "series titles" designated by Dr. Reich (117) and Collections (includes hardbound books) published by him (127 listings).

The Wilhelm Reich Bibliography Project's unique document collection made possible investigations to enable the ordering of Dr. Reich's writings by their earliest date (often being that of a filed manuscript or a lecture memorandum). Our "Year-Index" list presents for the first time a record of Dr. Reich's own intellectual progress, providing references to Wilhelm Reich's writings in the order of their dates of origin.

Until the Year-Index became compiled readers had little information as to how Reich's work developed over his lifetime. At one point he noted that he lectured only from prepared drafts. Recovering information about these has enabled verification of actual dates for many of the writings that Reich would publish only years later (such as those in his 1953 book, "People in Trouble").

Each year of Wilhelm Reich's writings from 1919 through 1957 is represented by a separate group of files with Reich's dated entries being listed first, followed by works that as yet show only their year of publication (we look forward to obtaining accurate dates of origin for all of Wilhelm Reich's published writings).

Undated literature reviews by Dr. Reich are presented last.

Lines of text in each Year-Index entry are carefully organized with ordered spacing and special punctuation marks that facilitate computer searches and enable a reader to recognize information easily.

Year-Index listings for individual writings (monographs) by Dr. Reich are "primary" entries. Serial publication listings and titles of collections of Reich's monographs are secondary entries; their listings are formatted differently (as shown in examples in section A-2 below).

Two examples of primary entries (monographs) by Dr. Wilhelm Reich follow:

OUR LISTINGS HAVE SEPARATE LINES FOR SPECIALIZED KINDS OF INFORMATION:

- A. A top line (with an "Identifier String") contains numeric search elements.
- B. Titles appear next in both German and English languages.
- C. Date of origin (when available) is preceded by caret marks (> > >).
- D. Publication sources are preceded by three dashes (- - -).
- E. Notes are preceded by three asterisk marks ().

LINE A: The first line comprises the IDENTIFIER STRING. A sequence of numbers helps to locate documents, generate various kinds of indexes, and cross-check searches for accuracy. The string consists of four elements of data, described in paragraphs A-1 through A-4 below.

A-1. The "Year-Index Number" (xx-yy) shows the year of origin or initial publication (xx) followed by that listing's placement (yy) in the sequence of works listed within the specific year (e.g., "41-05"). The order of these listings may be changed as more information about Reich's dates of origin becomes available. Thusly these numbers serve only temporarily for "look-up" purposes. Identifiers that do not change (use these for searching) are the File-Numbers and Reference-Numbers reviewed in paragraphs A-2 and A-4 below.

A-2. The second element of the Identifier String is the "File-Number." This consists of one to three digits preceded by a single alphabet letter (for example, "M-199"). The File-Number is the principal identifier for any work published by Wilhelm Reich. These numbers are arbitrarily assigned but afterward remain the same regardless of an entry's position in updated Year-Index versions.

Reprinted versions of a work published by Dr. Reich as well as authorized English translations of his German-language originals are represented under the same "File-Number" (e.g., M-199). These and "other-than-original versions" are identified individually by four-digit "Reference-Numbers" (see A-4 below). The former number identifies them as being genuine and the latter number distinguishes each item as unique.

A File-Number's "first initial" designates the type of Reich's published work:

"M-xxx" identifies Monographs. Such "primary" references are grouped first.

"S-xxx" identifies a Series title. Author Reich grouped his separate works by applying an "umbrella" title such as "History of the Discovery of Life Energy" (this is year 1952 listing S-14). Series entries are secondary references and follow lists of monographs in each calendar-year group.

"C-xxx" identifies "Collections" of monographs (the Year-Index's third category). This Archive's view is that most of Wilhelm Reich's published books are collections of his previously published papers (one exception being his 1953 book, "Listen Little Man" – comprising original essays that Dr. Reich published only 30 years later).

Primary entries that Reich reprinted in his own COLLECTIONS are cross-indexed in Notes sections (LINE E). Notes lines provide File-Numbers that link a reader to Reich's original writings.

Below is an example a secondary entry listing Reich's 1949 published collection consisting of three of his previously published monographs:

49-45      C-86 (COLLECTION 1949) R-0015      "MFOE"

INCLUDES PARTIAL REPRINTS OF 1947 REF M-261 AND 1948 REFS M-275 & M-470.

Next see a more complicated entry that represents a well-known collection authored by Wilhelm Reich. This listing displays not only embedded entries but also "sub-collections" being Parts One, Two and Three of the book: Collection references C-143 (contains six references), C-144 (contains seven references) and C-145 (three references).

While appearing complex in layout our detailed listings enable a reader to search the Year-Index using the File-Numbers to find the source of a work published by Dr. Reich, determine its date of origin, read the original and assess its content in the context of the history of Wilhelm Reich's own intellectual development.

(Section A-2 continues, describing a fourth category, preceded by the initial "P":)

"P-xxx" identifies a Periodical title, this initial representing only the periodicals (five in number) edited by Wilhelm Reich or members of his staff. Other journals in which Reich's works were published are listed separately in an "Abbreviation List" (see text below).

A-3. The parentheses in the middle of the Identifier String enclose a one-word descriptor (xxxxxx) and the listing's year of origin (yyyy). The pair of elements is formatted "(xxxxxx yyyy)" as in: (COLLECTION 1949). The descriptor usually matches the first letter at the head of the File-Number, helping a reader to quickly recognize the kind of media indexed.

A-4. The last element in the Identifier String is the "Reference-Number." This always consists of the letter "R" followed by four digits (R-xxxx). The lower values of these match the "R-numbers" assigned by Wilhelm Reich in his 1953 "Bibliography on Orgonomy 1920-1952" (in our Year-Index this booklet is described at entry C-42).

Upon adapting the numerical list in Dr. Reich's 1953 Bibliography, the Reich Orgone Archive assigned additional Reference-Numbers to other examples of Reich's published work (including reprints and translations).

TITLE ABBREVIATIONS:

Some Collection listings and Series Titles published by Dr. Reich are cross-indexed by "Title Abbreviations" consisting of three or more letters inside double-quote marks at the end of top line (past the Identifier String). The title this abbreviation represents is spelled out in full on the very next line of text (LINE B - the Title Line). Lower values of these abbreviations (there are 134 examples) initially were listed in Dr. Reich's own 1953 "Bibliography on Orgonomy 1920-1952." They may include Roman numerals or additional letters to distinguish different editions or to designate separate volumes under a single series title, some series volumes having been published by Reich with different names.

Abbreviations save storage space in the Year-Index dataset. These "short titles" simplify a computer's search to locate entries that reference Reich's writings. Search including the double-quote marks to locate a full listing. Search without quote-marks to reveal all occurrences of the collection or series title.

LINE B: The second line of each Year-Index listing is the TITLE LINE. Here the title of Dr. Reich's work is presented in German and/or English. Additional title lines appear for each published variant. English translations of titles originally in German are taken from Dr. Reich's own writings or were produced by his Vienna-born daughter, Eva Reich Moise, M.D., during her visits to the San Francisco area in the 1980's. Prior to her death Eva served as co-founder and Board Director of the Reich Orgone Archive (formerly Reich Archive West) and provided many hours of consultation time as well as original materials for review to improve the holdings in our Wilhelm Reich Bibliography collection.

While the Year-Index shows only titles and publication data, the Reich Orgone Archive's master file (in manila folders filling ten steel file-drawers) will be published as the Wilhelm Reich Bibliography's primary product. It includes copies of his original material and reprinted versions, published reviews about the writing, and details about translations of Reich's work in other languages.

LINE C: A date of origin (when available) is listed where three "caret marks" (> > >) appear at the beginning of a line. This earliest date will correspond with Reich's original title (in German or English) appearing in the Title Line above it.

LINE D: Lines beginning with three dash-marks (- - -) indicate SOURCES OF PUBLICATION. Works listed here include the abbreviated title, the year of publication, its volume number and the pagination. Full titles for three-letter abbreviations (representing publications, places, events, and authors) are spelled out in a fifty-line "Abbreviation List" at the end of the Year-Index file. Publication Lines are formatted in accordance with American Psychological Association (A.P.A.) guidelines.

If Dr. Reich's work is included in the Eva Reich Microfilm Collection (described at Year-Index listing 73-01/C-91 and page eight below), its location by microfilm reel and frame-number appears at the end of the related Publication Line.

LINE E: Lines beginning with three asterisk-marks () contain NOTES about a published work. Here some unsigned works are attributed to Dr. Reich. Also in the Notes section collaborations with Wilhelm Reich (as author, editor and publisher) are recognized including the collaborator/co-author's name.

POSTHUMOUS WORKS: A special Year-Index section includes literary works published after the death of Dr. Reich in 1957. These books consist of reprints of his writings. The originals (including English translations authorized by Wilhelm Reich) are listed by date and File-Number. Below see an example:

60-01      C-52 (COLLECTION 1960) R-1364      "SEL-WRI"
WILHELM REICH: SELECTED WRITINGS: AN INTRODUCTION TO ORGONOMY.
- - - NEW YORK: FARRER, STRAUS & CUDAHY, 1960. 557 PP.
INCLUDES 1927 REF M-63, 1940 REFS M-227 & M-228, 1948 REFS M-265
& M-272, 1950 REF M-315, 1953 REFS M-216, M-449, M-450 & M-503,
1954 REF M-402, AND 1960 REFS C-53, C-54, C-55 & C-56.
M. B. HIGGINS & C. M. RAPHAEL, EDS.

Publication titles first designated by Dr. Reich sometimes appear in works other than those published by him. By grouping such material under the posthumous category these are set apart to avoid confusion with his own authorized "second editions" (identified by Roman numerals in a listing's "top-line" abbreviation).

Reich's own reprints falling under specific File-Numbers (LINE A) are distinguished by their own Reference-Numbers (R-xxxx).

A few Year-Index entries (especially those following the year 1945) exhibit slash-marks (///) where information (e.g., a page number) still is lacking. These discrepancies will be resolved as the data becomes available.

The ABBREVIATION LIST shows full names for "non-Reich" journals, etc. For periodical citations a three-letter abbreviation represents a journal's title. As noted above Year-Index listings in the form M-xxx (monographs) will provide these abbreviations in their Publication Lines (LINE D), followed by the year of publication (in parentheses), the volume number and the page-numbers.

Year-Index abbreviations are presented in accordance with abbreviation rules published in P. Brown & G. B. Stratton, "World List of Scientific Periodicals Published in the Years 1900-1960" (London: Buttersworth, 1963-65 [4th ed.]).

Sometimes the decorative three-line header separating our "calendar-year" groups will print unevenly, showing six lines of text instead. To correct this widen your own downloaded text's margins (or change your printer setup). Lines of Year-Index text extend to 79 characters in length so setting margins to enable 80 characters per line should suffice.

The 74-character calendar-year "separator block" ought to look like this:

YEAR 1927YEAR-INDEX TO PUBLISHED WORKSTHE WILHELM REICH BIBLIOGRAPHY
YEAR-INDEX TO PUBLISHED WORKSTHE WILHELM REICH BIBLIOGRAPHYYEAR 1927
THE WILHELM REICH BIBLIOGRAPHYYEAR 1927YEAR-INDEX TO PUBLISHED WORKS

Many items of a personal nature (correspondence, notes and memoirs, photos, etc.) are being published in books about Reich. While of great interest and having possible scientific or medical value, these are not included within "The Wilhelm Reich Bibliography" that has been planned and developed for scholarly purposes.

Note that Year-Index listings have lots of white space around them to improve readability on computer screens and provide room for handwritten notes when working on the computer or using a printed copy.

Readers are encouraged to download the Year-Index for their personal use and scholarly research. It may be accessed and downloaded from the following website:

This Year-Index file is compiled in 10-point Courier New (a True Type font) as a searchable ".pdf" document. In WORD2000 format the list comprises 9,879 lines of text. The whole file (818 KB including our "Introduction") prints to 163 pages.
